

Wagner Taiatella

Frontend Software Engineer

wtaiatella@outlook.com

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/wagner-taiatella/>

+55 41 992292443

Florianópolis - SC, Brazil

July 10, 2025

Dear Stripe team,

I'm writing to express my interest in the Frontend Engineer position with the Merchant Experiences team at Stripe. With 4+ years of experience in React, TypeScript, and modern frontend technologies, I'm excited about the opportunity to contribute to Stripe's mission while building great user experiences for merchants.

Why I'd be a good fit for this role:

Frontend Development: I've built complete web applications from start to finish, including platforms with advanced filtering, real-time features, and payment integration. I've created reusable UI component libraries using Tailwind CSS and Ant Design, focusing on mobile-first responsive design — experience that would translate well to contributing to Stripe's design system.

Team Collaboration: I've worked with designers, product managers, and teams across different countries throughout my career. This has taught me how to turn complex requirements into user-friendly interfaces.

Learning New Technologies: At Avalara, I work on AI-driven log analysis applications, using technologies including AI agents and cloud infrastructure that helped achieve a 50% reduction in system response time. I enjoy staying current with new technologies and finding ways they can improve both internal processes and user experiences.

Engineering Background: My 20-year background in critical systems gives me a different perspective on software reliability and user experience. This helps me understand how small interface details can significantly impact user workflows — something that would be valuable when creating experiences that help merchants understand their business with ease.

What excites me most about this opportunity is working on experiences that millions of merchants worldwide will use. Stripe's Dashboard isn't just a tool—it's where businesses manage their commerce operations.

I'd love to discuss how my technical skills and passion for great user experiences can contribute to the Merchant Experiences team.

Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,

Wagner Taiatella